

Lab's economic impact benefits Northern New Mexico

April 11, 2017

Through its relations and partnerships across government agencies, universities, and industry, Los Alamos National Laboratory delivers the best possible science and technology results for the nation while making a positive impact on our New Mexico communities and economy.

This impact is illustrated in a new brochure, Economic Impact on New Mexico, featuring data derived from the Laboratory's financial system for payments made in fiscal year 2016 (October 1, 2015, through September 30, 2016).

Scroll through the pages below, or see the full brochure \(pdf\).

Solving national security challenges through scientific excellence.

Economic development: developing new business, strengthening existing companies, contributing to a diverse economy.

Creating and supporting an entrepreneurial culture in Northern New Mexico.

Employment: providing solutions to the most pressing issues facing the nation.

Small business procurement: purchasing quality products and services from small businesses while ensuring that the needs of the Laboratory and its customers are met.

Los Alamos National Laboratory

www.lanl.gov

(505) 667-7000

Los Alamos, NM

Managed by Triad National Security, LLC for the U.S Department of Energy's NNSA

